Marchese Antinori, Guado Al Tasso, Il Bruciato, Toscana, Italy (2015) $55 / $16 GLASS *
(Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Syrah)

- Rated 92 by Wine Spectator -

This is dark but not brooding, with a burst of ripe black currant and black cherry fruit shaded by licorice, spice and mint. Features grip and a lingering finish.

Masi, Campofiorin, Veneto - Italy (2015) $42 / $14 GLASS *
(Corvina, Rondinella, Molinara)

A.K.A. "A Baby Amarone" ... Bold flavors of cherry and berry fruits balance and velvety tannins. Perfect with many different foods, including pasta with rich meat-based sauces, and grilled or roasted red meats.

Franciscan, Magnificat, Napa Valley - California (2014) $90
(Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Malbec, Petit Verdot, Cabernet Franc)

- Rated 91 by James Suckling -

A fruit-forward style but not one that's overdone with plenty of plum and currant character. Full body and a velvety finish.

Stag's Leap, Artemis, Cabernet Sauvignon - Napa Valley, California (2016) $100

- Rated 92 by Wine Advocate -

Deep purple-black in color, it opens with notions of crushed black cherries, warm blackberries and mulberries... Medium to full-bodied, it fills the palate with expressive black berry and earthy layers.

"Rosé" - Domaines Ott, Chateau De Selle - France (2017) $95

- Rated 92 by James Suckling -

A denser and richer rosé, yet it still feels bright and intense with dried strawberries and cream undertones on the palate. Full to medium body and a fresh, fruity finish.

Rust En Vrede, Estate Blend, Stellenbosch - South Africa (2014) $80
(Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, Merlot)

- Rated 92 by Wine Spectator -

A graphite spine runs from start to finish, while steeped black currant and blackberry fruit rumbles through.

Sauvignon Blanc, Cakebread, Napa Valley - California (2016) $70

Vibrant, wonderfully fresh aromas of pink grapefruit, melon and white peach introduce zesty flavors of Meyer lemon, lime, guava, gooseberry and juicy melon. Accompanies seafood, poultry, vegetable very well

Cabernet Sauvignon, Caymus, Napa Valley - California (2016) $140

- Rated 92 by Wine Spectator -

Showing waves of plum and compote flavors gliding through, liberally laced with sweet singed vanilla bean and warm anise notes. Very polished in feel, the toast marrying nicely with the showy fruit on the finish. For fans of the style.

WHITE WINE

You get a white wine from a red grape by removing the skins from the juice immediately. All the color comes from the skins... even red grape are white inside. White wines tend to pair best with light foods such as veggies, some chicken dishes, and fish.

---- Italian Reds ----

Italy is one of the world's largest producers of wine, accounting for around 20% of the world's total production. Wine is made in each of the twenty region across the country, as well as its island regions of Sicily and Sardinia.

Each region produces diverse wines of all styles and tastes.

Brunello & Rosso di Montalcino

Montalcino is a small, medieval town just outside of the town of Siena. Brunello and Rosso di Montalcino are created entirely from Sangiovese grapes. By Italian wine law Brunello must be aged longer than any other wine, a minimum of four years, and the Rosso for only a year. Rosso is generally less tannic, lighter and fruitier... Whereas the Brunello is more complex and significantly more tannic.

Amarone

Made from air-dried and predominantly Corvina grapes, Amarone is produced in the northern Veneto region near Venice and are aged for five or more years before bottling. The name Amarone means big or bitter one; it has a powerful, concentrated and almost Port-like texture, with hints of mocha. Best when paired with red meat, pork, and also with cheeses.

SUPER TUSCANS

In the 1970's Piero Antinori, whose family had been making wine for more than 600 years, decided to make a richer wine by adding Bordeaux varietals (namely, cabernet sauvignon and merlot). The result was the first Super Tuscan, which he named Tignanello, after the vineyard where the grapes were grown. Other winemakers started experimenting with Super Tuscan blends of their own shortly thereafter.

CHIANTI

The region of Chianti is located in central Tuscany and is divided into seven separate wine zones; the most recognizable region is Chianti Classico. All Chianti wines are comprised of sangiovese grapes, accounting for at least 75% of the blend. It tends to have an aroma of cherries & plums and is best when accompanied by tomato-based dishes and hearty beefs.

BAROLO, BARBERSCO, & BARBERA

Barolo is one of the world's greatest red wines and is often referred to as "the king of wines." Barolo is made in the Langhe Hills region of Piedmonte, and is comprised entirely of Nebbiolo grapes. Big, powerful & full-bodied with a complex mixture of tastes and textures such as strawberry, chocolate and vanilla. Barbaresco is Barolo's near neighbor and stylistic soul mate, but tends to be softer and more graceful. Barbera, grown in Alba and Asti, is known for bold blackberry & red fruit flavor.

FRENCH BORDEAUX

French wines tend to focus less on fruit flavors, compared to wines from newer growing regions in the “New World,” and may even be described as having earthy or mineral undertones. Bordeaux is the planet's largest source of fine wine, and is considered by many wine connoisseurs to produce the world's greatest reds... 7,500 different producers make almost 10,000 different Bordeaux wines, so there is no simple explanation as to the taste of Bordeaux wine.

MERLOT

Merlot is the most widely planted fine wine grape in the world, with nearly 460,000 acres cultivated in more than two dozen countries. Not quite as harsh as other reds, merlot has less tannin and is more herbaceous overall in both aroma and taste. It is mellow but still complex, and is known for the flavors of plums, black cherry, violets and orange. Merlot wine is excellent with pasta, meats and even chocolate.

PINOT NOIR

The history of Pinot Noir tells us that it was named after the noble Pinot family who date back to the Roman era. The “noir” variety is typically a rich, full-bodied wine, but not too heavy. Pinot Noir is very diverse, typically high in alcohol and is neither acidic nor tannic. Generally, Pinot Noir is best enjoyed with less hearty fare such as fish, pasta and leafy greens.

CABERNET SAUVIGNON

Although grown all over the world, California is one of the world's largest producers of Cabernet Sauvignon. Its distinctive black currant aroma can develop bouquet nuances of cedar and violet, and its typically tannic edge may soften and smooth considerably with age. Nothing goes better with a glass of "cab" than a red meat, as well as most grilled and smoked proteins.

CABERNET & BORDEAUX BLENDS

“Diverse blends make for happy meritages.” Cabernet sauvignon is often blended with Merlot, Cabernet Franc, Malbe and Petite Verdot to produce world-class wines. Often referred to as meritages or bordeaux, these blends result in a truly unique and typically very smooth yet bold tasting wine.
